Mr. Procrox, the eminent English as-Mn. Procron, the eminent English astronomer, in a lecture delivered in New York last Thursday evening, gave his audience some interesting comparisons to aid their comprehension of the size of the earth and the sun, the difficulty of calculating the distance between them, and the extent of the selar system. If the earth is regarded as a globe of one inch diameter, the sun should be regarded as a globe of three yards diameter, and the distance between them 120 yards. The difficulty of measuring the distance of the earth from the sun may be appreciated by supposing it were attempted to measure the distance between these two globes by triangulation from the smaller one. One the same scale, the span of the solar system would be about 10½ miles. The illustration was modified substantially thus: Let a onemodified substantially thus: Let a oneinch globe represent the sun, and by this scale the earth should be represented by a tiny grain, 1-100 of an inch in diameter. a tiny grain, 1-100 of an inch in diameter, the distance between them represented by three yards, and the span of the solar system 180 yards.

RELIGIOUS DRIFT AND DISCUSSION.

A CONFERENCE of Jews, at which nearly all the synagogues of Europe will be represented, is to be held in London this week. There will be a strong effort to make the Jewish Sabbath conform to the Christian Sunday, and it is thought this will prevail in the near future. At present, the Hebrew merchants complain that they lose two days every week, and this consideration has made many of them willing to give up the Seventh, and adopt the First, as a "Day of Rest."

The Christian Union says:

"Physicial sins require physicial remedies. Sins of the appetite and the passions can no more be cured by [mere Bible reading and prayer than sins of the affections by a blue-pill. They involve not only ethics, but dietetics. If a man says, 'I resist the infirmity of my flesh—my appetite or my passions—but every now and then I am overcome and my prayers are without result,' his first step toward reform must be hygienic; bathing, more exercise, less food, or more food, or a different kind of food."

THE Churchman asks: "What is the se cret of Mr. Moody's power?" and answers its own question thus:

The estate of the late Senator Chandler, says the Detroit Neus, will not exceed $1,800,000. It consists of twelve stores and a fine dwelling in Detroit, a fine dwelling in Washington, an extensive farm near Lansing, Mich., a quantity of pine lands and $100,000 in bank stock.

A phiend of Chief Justice Chase attributes his death to the fact that he had not practiced law for twenty years when he became Chief Justice, so when he came to preside over so learned and experienced a body of lawyers he naturally felt his inferiority, and those profound old judges, while apparently paying the most punctillous respect to their presiding officer, never let an opportunity pass when there was a chance to make Mr. Chase feel that, though he may once have been a very ward leaves at the same to improve a surrender of even a time-homored usage, it ought to be regarded as a happy opportunity, and language. usage, it ought to be regarded as a happy opportunity, and improved as such."
